

Vacancy from 23rd of November 2021

Location Düsseldorf
Start date As soon as possible
Capacity Fulltime employment
Industry Consultancy industry

Position

Medior Management Consultant (m/w/d)

Tasks and responsibilities

Our customers' company culture is often one of the key reasons for choosing it. You will fit in if you have an authentic personality that will make impact at their clients. You are intrinsically motivated, conceptually driven, analytical, and a little stubborn, with a great passion for content and results.

As their new Management Consultant, you have a natural drive to add value to their clients' digital strategy, organization design, data, and technology. You are capable of translating theoretical concepts and models to pragmatic advice, working together is your second nature and you are constantly looking for opportunities to develop yourself, our customers' models, and our customers' way of working. Our customer is expanding its passionate team in Germany and is looking for a medior Management Consultant.

- You're responsible for the end report on one or more assignments, guided by a senior consultant.
- You're advising our customers' clients on their digital transformation.
- You're facilitating interviews and workshops for our customers' clients.
- You're aware of the client stakeholders for your assignment and understand their challenges.
- You're able to swiftly understand our customers' models and approaches to apply them for their clients.
- You're actively contributing to the further development of our customers' models and approaches.
- You're aware of opportunities and proactively help in writing proposals.

Qualification / Profile

- Master's degree and/or with extensive relevant work experience in Business, Technology, and/or Data.
- 3 plus years of experience in a consulting or in-house environment.
- Provable and relevant experience.
- Deep insights on the cohesion among Business, Technology, and Data.
- Strategic thinker with an analytical mindset.
- Strong consulting skills.
- Ambition, enthusiasm, and a high sense of responsibility.
- Independent and proactive.
- The ability to quickly switch between strategic, tactical and operational levels.
- Bringing your own active network is a plus.
- Fluent in English.
- Fluent in Germany.

Your advantages

- You'll work at our customers' Düsseldorf office and will be a part of their European team.
- Interesting projects on strategic level at our customers' clients and an enthusiastic team to work with.
- Plenty of room for personal and career development.
- Active participation in knowledge sharing and development of our customers' company. This is reflected in weekly meetings, a full week of teambuilding and training in Austria every year, and multiple workshops and seminars.
- Control over your work and responsibilities.
- Hybrid work mode: flexibility in working from home combined with working at our offices.
- Fixed compensation package, variable rewards based on joint achievements and a company car.
- Our customers' core values, impact, family, authentic and passion are reflected in everything they do and the decisions they take.